The warriors from the south had an experience. They got side-tracked somewhere down on Carr & Haggin's ranch and did not get into the convention city until 8 this morning. They wore looks of disgust and dusters generally, and brought their thirst with Editor Lynch mingled freely with the delegation on the way up, but I am assured that he is no longer in the fight for delegate. Hence the genial Patton's little feet will probably be heard pattering at Chicago, while Joseph will mop his ruddy dome of thought on Second street with no thought of ever having thought he thought of going to see a President made. The San Francisco delegation shows indications that the reconstructors have really succeeded in improving the looks of things in the Bay city, but there are enough of the old Buckley heelers left to leaven the lump. Generally the representatives from the metropolis are well groomed and intelligent gentlemen who have serious notions of keeping politics respectable. The air of free dom from Bucklevism is retreshing, and, while the Blind Boss is missed, it is a pleasant reflection. The reinforcements kept dropping into view until by the time we got to breakfast it looked as though every Democrat in California expect popular Shorb of San Gabriel was right iere. J. Downey Harvey came in with the boomers from San Francisco, wearing a spring suit and a broad smile. He seemed particularly at home among the one-lungers, but what his fight is except it be to see somebody else fight, has not developed. Senator Del Valle swelled the throng as much as his avordupois would permit him to, but he seems grieved at missing the Thursday ball

FRESNO, May 17, 5 P.M.-[Special.] With the ald of a vigorous constitution the press gang and delegates managed to squeeze into the Barton Operahouse this afternoon, and the victims who urge the feeble pencil are at this moment weltering in roses and other kinds of posies with which the fair Fresnoites have adorned the spot where the riew is best. The operahouse is a ably confiagrating questions, beauty and an ideal meeting place for a convention. The main floor, bannered with county names, keeps the delegation in close proximity to the chairman, and even gentlemen from the south, with the historic limping lungs, will be able to make themselves heard. The galleries and stage boxes were gaudy with feminine beauty, and the 'swelter ing heat made the freely distributed fans, with a picture of a red lady on them, keep up a flutter like the leaves among the trees. Los Angeles and Sacramento occupied the front rows of the parquette, where the bald heads are usually supposed to congregate.

Then Bre'r Hammond called for nominations for temporary chairman, whereupon Ed E. Leake of Yolo reared his manly form out of the human jam at the center of the hall and came down to the stage to nominate horny-handed Ostrom of Yuba for the honor of sitting in judgment over the deliberations of the bear pit. Mr. Leake talked in a good strong voice, but was a little too long in getting down to the "tariff reshibboleth, and the name of the Stuffed Prophet. However, when he cratic politics, the yell that went up was a wild one, but its tenure of life did not exist over a half minute. Mr. Leake raked his friends, the enemy, with choice language and retired from the scene in a "bust" of applause.

When Jackson Hatch of Santa Clara came down to the footlights to nominate Barney Murphy of San José, he was greeted with a warwhoop that far out-did the one that went into the blue empyrean when the Buffalo statesman's name was hoisted on the fetid atmos-phere. Mr. Hatch's voice was keyed so low that the back rows had to yell "Louder," but he easily made himself heard, and made a rather prosy talk, which did not aid very much in electing his candidate to the coveted positio name of Ruth's papa for another yell, but it was a frail effort, hardly worth but it was a real effort, hardly worth the try. When he finally got down to the name of Murphy the perspiring statesmen ejected their voices into space with great vigor. Mr. Hatch proved his ability to talk longer than there was any call for. Some time in the saccharine bye and bye nominating orators will learn to let go the same of the horny-handed, seconded the nom ination of Murphy, but the sweltering patriots had begun to squirm, and it took strong-voiced Wright, who belongs to the society in the county of Stan-islaus, to interest them. He made a meaty talk for Murphy.

Will Harris of San Bernardino straddled Bill McKinley and rode him around the arena with raw spurs, and when he began to talk about the county he came from having some kind of a breeze as soft as a maiden's first breath of love, the multitude rose at him and howled He was stuck on Dan Ostrom, and said it with sultry southern language.

Col. John O'Byrne of San Francisco ejected the railroad yell into the debate and got roundly hissed for his pains. He intimated that the railroad was backing Ostrom, and when he wedged his way into his seat everybody was mad and commenced to yell "Question!"
mixed with cries for White of Los Angeles, but that gentleman declined to de-clare himself other than to second the motion of Archer of Santa Clara to close the nominations.

The situation at this juncture was pretty nearly as noisy as a woman's sewing bee, but the secretary finally nanaged to get into the roll call, which was gone through with about like pulling teeth.

The wind-up of this interesting performance showed how good guessers are liable to get left. When we reached this city Monday noon the earth and all that is in it seemed to belong to a party by the name of Ostrom, but when Vice-Chairman Hammond announced that the wearer of the shamrock from Santa Clara had 846 to the Yuba rancher's 283, sorrow brooded over the deep with a brood that had whiskers on it. Of course the Hibernian statesman was escorted to the flower-garnished platform amic roars of glee, while the band played that soul-stirring tune about "The dawn's early light." Mr. Murphy disclosed the fact that his voice will likely need a prop in it before he gets through the heat and burden of handling over 600 noisy Democrats, most of whom appear to have their lungs right with them. Mr. Murphy did not harp on Cleveland, tariff reform or the railroad-in fact, so far as brother Murphy was concerned, none of those presun before the august assemblage. In the recess which ensued for the appointment of a committee on credentials the jam broke and everybody got out into the San Joaquin breeze, while the band played a patrol. The election of Murphy has been a buster of slates, and we will have to revise our guesse L E MOSHER

MR. TAYLOR'S REPORT.

Detailed Account of the Proceedings FRESNO, May 17.—[Special.] Long before the hour for the opening of the State Democratic Convention streets in the vicinity of the Barton Operahouse were crowded with visitors the doors were not opened until 10:80 o'clock, when the crowd surged in, and in a few minutes every seat was occupied. Col. FRESNO, May 17.--[By the Associated Press.] The wise-acres declare tonight that the election of Murphy means a strong Cleveland plank in the platform, but no instruction of the delegation; that the Traffic Association will be indorsed, but that it will precipitate a fight, as the railroad is against the Govrnment on that proposition. One of the Indicrous features of the situation, viewed from a Los Angeles standpoint, where Hill has been heard of with so much persistency and violent language for some time, is the fact that the wily machine politician's name has not yet been mentioned in the convention. The names of Boies, Boyd, Russell, Pattison and Cleveland were tossed on the breeze with great freedom this afternoon, but the silence about that party by the name of Hill, could be felt. Statesman Brooks has a kind of sneaking idea that the election Nominations for temporary chairman were declared in order, when E. E. WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

The Question Which Ostrom Men Are Asking-Lyach Does Not Give Up-FRESNO, May 17.—[Special.] Every-body tonight is talking about the result of the convention this afternoon. The election of Murphy is regarded in the nature of a surprise and delegates are putting in full time trying to figure out just what the result means. The fact that Mr. Murphy carefully steered clear of any reference to Hill, while he was equally chary about saying anything about Mr. Cleveland in his speech in taking the chair, is generally commented on, but tonight it is generally conceded that the delegates to Chicago will go uninstructed. land people regard this as a victory, but the Cleveland men insist that it has no significance and that the "Stuffed Prophet" is still in it. CRIME AND CRIMINALS.

A Burglar Gets Under the Feet of His Victim.

roner's Jury-A Mother Com-plains to the Police About

Her Sons.

For some time past this city has been full of a desperate gang of burglars, but for some reason, best known to themselves, they have confined their operations to the towns and cities in the vicinity of Los Angeles. They have probably learned from past experience that the thief-takers of this city are dauger-ous men to tamper with, and when they do burglarize a house within the city limits they get as far away from the Night before last a couple of the "gang" made a raid on Boyle Heights and succeeded in capturing a fine gold watch and a few dollars.

At about 1 o'clock vesterday morning

At about 1 o'clock yesterday morning Theo Klag's daughter, who was sleeping in a room on the second floor of her father's residence at No. 826 Boyd street, heard some one place a ladder against the side of the house under her window. A few minutes later a man's face appeared at the window. She called loudly for help and the man disappeared.

appeared.

An hour later burglars entered the residence of L Roeder at No. 819 Boyd street, almost opposite Mr. Klag's house. Mr. Roeder was awake at the time and heard a noise down stairs, but he thought the realest was caused by time and heard a noise down stairs, but he thought the racket was caused by rats or mice and thought nothing more of the matter until a few minutes later, when a noise in his bedroom disturbed him, and, thinking the rats had moved upstairs, he made up his mind to frighten them away, and rose from his bed. He first went to the window to admire the beantiful moonlight night, and, after a few minutes, he walked quietly to the closet where he heard the rats, and was about to open it, but just at that moment he stumbled over a man who was cronching down in the corner.

An exciting scene immediately took place, for both Mr. Roeder and the burg-lar were badly frightened. The burglar hurried out of the room as fast as he could crawl, and made his way down could crawl, and made his way down stairs at a ratiling gate with Mr. Roeder close at his heels. He made good his escape, and was joined just outside of the gate by a companion. While he was in the room he managed to get Mr. Roeder's fine gold watch and a few dollars in silver out of his pockets.

THE INGALLS SUICIDE.

The Blind Husband on the Witness Stand
—The Verdict.

Yesterday morning Coroner Weldon

ok her own life on the San Fernando

William Ingalls was able to attend the inquest and stated that his dead wife has attempted to take her own life several times since he lost his eyesight a year and a half ago. His sickness was partly the cause of her rash act, but she also fretted about their bank account, which has been low of late, and he thinks that had much to do with her he thinks that had much to do with her terrible ending.

She told him good-by at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon and said she had taken something that would end her life, but she had spoken that way before so he paid no attention to her. During the night she seemed to be very sick, but he could do nothing for her and did not know that she was dead until morning.

Several other witnesses were sworn, but no new facts were brought out. The jury found that she came to her death from a dose of opium taken with suicidal intent.

Brutal Sons.

Mrs. De Groot of Vernon, the widow of the late Dr. De Groot, who was well-known in Los Angeles several years ago, last night applied at the police Bradstreet's statistics of available wheat stocks indicate that with a continuance of the rate of exports reported for three weeks past, the United States will carry over about as much available and probably more invisible wheat in July, than on that date in 1801. Exports of wheat for both coasts this week (and flour as wheat) equal 3,021,000 bushels, contrasted with a weekly average of 3,100,000 bushels with 1,-941,000 bushels in the second week of May, 1892.

Money, Stocks and Bonds.

New York May 17.—In the stock market Union Pacific and Northern Pacific preferred were the weak points. This was sue to manipulation. The latter stock rallied fully though, while the former rose only a slight fraction. The mevement along the lines was very irregular. There was a great deal of selling of western stocks on the theory that the floods would adversely affect earnings, but all material losses were in the Gould stocks. The market closed quiet and rather heavy after a fractional rally in the last few minutes. Government boads were dull, steady.

The Natatorium.

The Los Angeles Natatorium had a very successful opening last night. There was a large crowd present, and all the details having been carefully arranged by Master of Ceremonies Doyle, the entertainment passed off smoothly. The programme consisted of an exhibition by William White, ex-champion of Scotland; a race between J. Rhodes and William Rice, won by the latter; aerial act by Jack Platt; sack mystery by Howard Massac; trick swimming by Howard Massac and Fay Stevenson; diving by Master Maldy Curtis and others, and a laughable obstacle race, won by Howard Massac.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a Child, she cried for Casteria. When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

THE METHODISTS.

They Resolve to Stand by the Negro in the South.

OMAMA (Neb.,) May 17.—[By the Associated Press.] Bishop Bowman presided at this merning's session of the Methodist conference. The Committee on Itinerancy reported in favor of the abolishment of the five-year limit of appointment of pastors, and recommended that bishops be permitted to appoint pastors every year, without reference to the places to which ministers had been assigned the previous year. As the church law has stood for many years, pastors could not remain at one place longer than five years in succession. The report was made the special order for tomorrow morning.

The Committee on the State of the Church brought in a report bristling with denunciations of outrages practiced on the negroes in the South, and called on the Government, States, churches and all good citizens to assist in abolishing these outrages. The resolution declared that the colored people are treated shamefully on trains and in hotels, are shot down like dogs, and the law of the land is trampled under foot by people who despise the colored race. The report caused a great stir. A number of delegates made vehement speeches, calling on the great Methodist Church to sound the alarm and stand firmly for the rights of the colored people. The report was unanimously adopted by a rising vote. Arrownead hot Springs.

Fields of Philadelphia attempted to make a statement in regard to the management of that business, but was ruled out of order. He claims that the concern has been badly managed; that with a capital of $3,000,000 it showed a profit of only $40,000 during the last four years; that with a business of $900,000 last year, $600,000 still stands on the books uncollected.

Dr. Hunt said, in explanation, that a large amount of the capital is locked up in the building used by other departments of the church, which brings no rent, and that the capital of the concern has been made from nothing by the concern money sunk. Fungus on Fruit Trees

Prune trees, which, in Southern California, have thus far been singularly free from parasites and all forms of dis eases, are beginning to be afflicted by a fungus growth in some localities. This vegetable parasite generally fastens upon the under side of the leaves and causes the tree to drop its follage before the wood is fully matured. The effect is disastrous upon the tree, stunting its growth and eventually destroy ing its productive capacity, and per-

In advance of its publication by the department, we are in receipt of a pa-

Their Treatment," which discusses this

The writer holds that the treatment of pounds of sal soda. Stir thoroughly, and after the soda is dissolved the solu tion may be applied at once in a spray.

As the rust affects only the leaves of the prune tree, it is of no avail to treat the trees in the spring before the foliage appears. The trees should be treated as soon as possible after the period of full bloom. In this way no njury will be done to the fruit, and the leaves will be found mostly well developed. The under surface of the leaver

The entomologists are also concern ing themselves about a tendency of figs to sour upon the trees, the fruit crack ing open and accumulating fungus. For this they can prescribe no better treatment than scant irrigation at the latter end of the season. A surplus of mois ture in the tree and fruit is thought to

An unusually warm wave struck the city yesterday which seemed to usher in midsummer at a bound. The high temperature was especially noticeable because the spring has been somewhat backward and cool thus far. It will probably be of little use to excuse matters with our visitors by telling ther that it is "quite unusual" and "very phenomenal" and all that sort of thing. They will probably think that this is the regular dose of May caloric which Southern California has to take. "What can't be cured must be endured."

Los Angeles welcomes the visiting editors and bespeaks for them a pleas ant jaunt through California and a safe return to their homes when the visit is done. Many of them will go away with enlarged ideas of the fruitfulness of California soil, the deticious features of California climate and, we hope also, of the open-handed hospitality of Californians. This is what we want. Our State will never suffer from being too well known, but it has suffered some hither o from the misrepresentations of tho e who had only a half knowledge of it. f we may venture a suggestion to the visiting gentlemen of the craft. it is that they supply themselves with reliable information about the country while in our midst. Such information is accessible in various printed forms. They need not be exposed to the dangers of "a little learning." May their visit be alike profitable to themselves and to California.

A MOVEMENT set on foot some time ago the United States Land Office to withdraw from the operation of othe land law a large area of mountain territory in this county and make it a Government reservation has not elicited much attention thus far, but it is a very important matter and, if carried through, will probably result in much good to the public. B. F. For a long time this company, which s composed principally of San Franisco capitalists, has enjoyed an exceptionally soft snap in its Los Angeles bus ness. It has been able, on a very moderate investment, to send away prob bly from $4000 to $5000 a month for distribution in dividends. As the patents on the Bell telephone will expire next March, and as anybody will be able to manufacture and sell the instruments after that date, it stands existing companies in hand to provide themselves ith extra facilities for accommodating the public if they wish to hold on to their business. The Sunset company will have to do more than provide itself with underground wires and a brand new exchange building. It will need to mprove its system by the use of several patents which are now in existence, but which have been withheld from the public by the Bell company in order to proong its lease of power.

Los Angeles is a progressive city and t will never be content unless it has the best that is going in telephones as in everything else. Meanwhile the suggestion of placing wires underground is one that may be followed with advantage by the telegraph and electric light and power companies. If they are wise they will not wait until public dissatisfaction is aroused to the point of compelling them to take this step.

The play presented was Beau Brummel, by Clyde Fitch and Richard Mansfield. Of the play itself little can be said, but of the performance volumes might be written and the whole not told. Jesus said when He laid down the fundamental principle of heaven in the parable of the pearl of great price and the hidden treasure. It is only when you are willing to give up all, that you really enter into the blessing. Abraham stood the crucial test—even to putting the knife to the throat of his beloved son—he had come to that place where he could give up everything; this was the limit and as he lifted the knife, God cried 'enough.' I do not What is the power at work in our idst? It is not mere excitement, for the great audience that gathers night night and day after day is calm, serious, thoughtful. There is a power at work that is moving upon the very deeps of the heart, arresting the atten-tion of even the most thoughtless in our community. One universal feeling pervades the hearts of all-a feeling of eed, of human helplessness, of spiritual danger. It is the same still small voice that spoke to Elijah in the wilderness -the voice of God saying "Come unto

When God speaks men must hear Self-righteousness slips off and men feel that it is but as filthy rags; the sense of human need and helplessnes grows; we feel that "vain is the help Then comes the cry, "Lord save or I perish.

I think that it is this point that we have reached. Men feel that they must have a Saviour and a divine Saviour.

I never saw such a picture as I sav last night. Scarce a vacant seat in the great Pavilion—and all the seats—or nearly all, filled by earnest-faced men, carce an eve wandered from the speaker. The gaze of all was fixed, inent, earnest, as if every word were a pearl of great price which they would not lose. There were boys there, and they listened as they would to the ten-der words of a mother's love. There were young men there-young men of high social standing; young men from school and college; young men from all the walks and professions of life, but not one young man of them all but listened as if the words of the evangeist were for him alone. There were middle-aged men there who sat with the same fixed earnestness of attention, as if the sermon were for then only. There were men there with with white hair, on whose cheeks time had plowed deep furrows of care, of anxiety and of sorrow, and not mong them but was eager for the mes sage which the evangelist had to give What did it mean but that God spoke And when God speaks shall we refuse to hear? Said one individual: glad to know that Mr. is among those who are interested. It must infinite power that can arrest his attention, for he has loved the world and it pleasures and its honors, but to see him a Christian—who could doubt but God did it? He has been worldly and thoughtless, but he will be just as earn est in the new life as he has been in th old. He will go into it with his whole heart if he does become a Christian."

And that is the kind of Christians that God wants—those who are Christians with their whole hearts. Isn't that the only kind of Christians that are worth anything? Doesn't God say "My son give me thine heart"? He does not say give me a part of it just a little place in itabut, "glve me thine heart"—give me all of it, with all of its power for loving, all its capacity

THE SERMON.

What the Great Preacher Talked About Yesterday—Notes, Notwithstanding the unusua: heat of yesterday fully 1500 people congregated at the Pavilion, just as they have gated at the Pavilion, just as they have been doing for the past ten days, to hear Evangelist Mills. The opening prayer was made by Rev. Mr. Field, pastor of the Olivet Congregational Church. Rev. Mr. Mills chose his text from Luke xiv:33: "So like wise whose ever he be of you that forsaketh not all that he hath he cannot be my disciple."

"We are told that to eater into the kingdom it is necessary to forsake our ains," said the preacher, "but here we have been doing for the past ten days, to hear and women be slated nundreds of med and women be slated nundreds of ink we have a right," he sai

"I think we have a right," he sain, to draw a parallel between God and als relations to us, and David and his relations to Absalom—a loving King to His subjects on the one hand, and a loving father to his son on the other." In speaking of the evils which beset young men in the present age, the evangelist dwelt especially on skepticism, which he defined as a terrible form of carlessness. In refering to noted form of carlessness. In refering to note infidels, he mentioned David Hume called the purest infidel (if such a thin can be) that ever lived, and he said "a within me is doubt and contradiction and all without is darkness and distrac Voltaire said: "I wish I had nev Voltaire said: "I wish I had never been born." Paine, when he lay dying, gasped: "To what shall I hold on!" In Col. Robert Ingersoll's lecture on "Gbosts," which the evangelist denounced as a tissue of misrepresentations about the Bible strung together with marvelous silvery eloquence and considerable wit, the great infidel says at the end: "I do not pretend to know what the truth is."

what the truth is."

There has been some dispute about how infidels have died, but it is a known fact that a large number have died in great agony. David Hume, it is true, died with a sarcastic conversation on his lips with the ferryman who was about to ferry him over the dark river. A nurse was once called upon to nurse a very sick man and she said: "Is he a Christian? I am the nurse who cared for Voltaire and I will never see another infidel die."

The very bitterest things in the 800 where he could give up everything; this was the limit and as he litted the knife, God cried 'enough.' I do not doubt that you have done something, have made some sacrifice, have sold some treasure, but there is wanting this—that to the very last limit you sell all, all that you hath—the very dearest thing which in giving up it seems as if you controvert the very word of God. "What is self-denial? It means something more than suffering for there is no virtue in suffering for there is no virtue in suffering for the sake of suffering. Self-denial is to suffer for a purpose, to say I am not myself." To take up one's cross does not mean to speak in prayer-meeting, but it means to crucify one's self to the world, to make it so dead to you'that you would sooner be bound to a decaying corpse than to the things of the world. Jesus Christ hanging on the cross of Calvary is the type of self-denial. There was a time when He said in the agonies of the crucifixion "Father, into thy hands I commend my spirit," and there came a time when He lost even the sense of Fatherhood and other infidel die."

The very bitterest things in the 800 volumes about Thomas Paine in the British Museum were said by his friends, who deserted him. He was attended by a Christian nurse and a Christian doctor in his last days and he was contin-ually calling out on his death-bed: "My God, why hast Thou forsaken me?" and his cries could be heard two blocks

"Come back, David Hume," cried the evangelist, "wrapped in your grave clothes of sophistry and let us hear that cry: 'All within me is doubt and contradiction and all without is dark-ness and distraction.' Come forth, Volspirit, and there came a time when He lost even the sense of Fatherhood and cried out 'Lama, lama subachhui-My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?' He loved His own to the end, and ness and distraction. Come forth, voi-taire, and take thy seat once more upon the throne of France and let us hear that cry: I wish I had never been born. Come back, Thomas Paine, and take your hatchet and walk up and down the gardens of Christianity and back at every tree of life growing there and let us hear that cry: 'To what shall I hold on?' Stand up, O Robert Ingersoll and send ringing down these aisles tonight the silver tones of that eductive voice and let us hear: 'I do seductive voice and let us hear: 'I do not pretend to know what the truth is.' I think it is utterly base and cruel to cut one's faith aloof and give no atom of hope to cling to, nothing but a dark abyss of uncertainty.''

He closed his eloquent and stirring sermon by an appeal to those who felt any impulse urging them to become Christians to rise for a second to their feet. Scores of men responded and but few heads in that great congregation of graft a branch into a vine, and friends, there is only one place where you can come into the life of God, and that is at the cross of Jesus Christ.

of tariff reform; that Grover Cleveland is a candidate of the people and one under whom we must fight." At the mention of Cleveland delegates went wild with enthusiasm, the hall being a sea of waving handkerchiefs. The speaker then went on to discuss the railroad. He declared no measure was ever considered in California for regulating railroads with which Ostrom was not identified.

The chairman then recognized Jackson Hatch of Santa Clara, who proceeded to nominate B. D. Murphy of Santa Clara. Mr. Hatch declared that the regulation of railroads and tariff reform must be the great issues of the coming campaign. The convention was a very important one, and its chairman must be a man able to understand all the movements in it and control it with an iron hand; that it may so act that we may at Chicago nominate Grover Cleveland. It had been said by many untruly that Mr. Murphy represents the anti-Cleveland sentiment. This was utterly untrue. The Santa Clara delegation would send no one to Chicago who was not in favor of Cleveland. [Applause.] Murphy's name was received with applause.

Col. Thomas F. Barry of San Francisco then seconded the nomination of Ostrom.

The First, Second, Fourth, Fifth and Seventh Districts will hold meetings tonight.

The Los Angeles delegation this morning caucused and decided to cast its entire 38 votes for White for delegate-at-large.

Tonight Ostrom's supporters are still wondering what hit them. Never were a set of men more conddent of victory and never were any more painfully surprised. They cannot yet tell why they lost. Nine-tenths of the delegates are Cleveland men. Whenever his name wild with enthusiasm, and yet when the vote was taken they cast a majority for Murphy, who, though believed to be in favor of Cleveland himself, had as his supporters every Democrat in the convention who was opposed to the Experiment of the convention went wild with enthusiasm, and yet when the vote was taken they cast a majority for Murphy, who, though believed to be in favor of Cleveland. was received with applause.

Col. Thomas F. Barry of San Francisco then seconded the nomination of Ostrom.

Roll call was then proceeded with by counties, the secretary being assisted by William Markley of Sonora and Robert Burnett of Sacramento. The roll call proceeded with few interruptions. The chairman ruled that no one except a member of a delegation could take exception to a vote as cast by the chairman of the delegation. The roll of individual members of the delegations as a called in the cases of Nevada, San Diego and San Francisco. Fresno requested to be passed until the end, when Senator Goucher announced that Fresno would not vote, she being the host of the other delegates. Murphy did not vote, and Ostrom cast his vote for Murphy.

The chairman announced: Total vote of the chair and the practice of the equal of the chair man of the chelegates. Murphy did not vote, and Ostrom cast his vote for Murphy.

The chairman announced: Total vote of the chair and that of Thompson of Humboldt has risen. W. W. Foote has a strong fol lowing and may win, but he has a strong fol town one case of their defeat, and he will, therefore be bitterly opposed.

On assuming the chair Hon. D. B.

On assuming the chair Hon. D. B. Murphy, after complimenting Fresno on her progress and predicting a glorious future for her, spoke as follows:

In the good old days there was a good oid-fashioned style of honesty of purpose, honesty of acts, honesty of words that have given place to duplicity, sharp practice and treachery, and this has been more conspicuous in political fields than in any other. And I am sorry to see that it has not been confined to any one political party. The result is that litical fields than in any other. And I am sorry to see that it has not been confined to any one political party. The result is that conscientious and intelligent men have been driven from the field of politics, while trickster and time-server have been elevated to high places in the synogogue. Good men have been fearful of going into politics, and the best friends of the Republic have taken a gloomy view of the future. But I thank God that a great wave of morality is now rolling over the State. You, gentlemen of this convention, represent that sentiment, and I congratulate you that I now look upon a harmonious and united Democracy.

Gentlemen of the convention, let us, as much is expected of us, not fall to do our duty. Let us mean what we say and say what we mean. Let us make such a platform of principles that not only every pemocrat but every honest man, no matter what his political amiliations may be, can take his stand upon it, and when you come to elect your relegates let your men be broad-gauge men, who can sit down with the great men of Indiana. Mr. Ostrom presented a telegram received from Congressman Caminetti, requesting that the convention is here in this great Democratic stronghold representing the doctrine not only of the Democrats, but of the people of the United States.

Gen. Hammond then introduced Mayor S. H. Cole of Fresno, who welcomed the convention in a short speech. The chairman then recognized E. E. Leake of Yolo, who placed in nomination D. J. Ostrom for chairman of the convention. The convention burst into long and continued applause at the mention of the name.

"Ostrom," said Leake, "is a self-made man and the job could hardly be improved on."

Mr. Leake then paid a glowing eulogy to Ostrom, which was received from Congress District; Fred Cox. A. F. Jones, Second; P. O'Brien, M. J. Laymance. Third; Seldon S. Wright, James H. O'Brien, Fourth; A. P. Paulsell, Charles F. Hanlon, Fifth; John R. Mares of tariff reform; that Grover Cleveland is a candidate of the people and one under whom we must fight." CLARKSON'S VIEWS.

The Minneapolis Convention Will not Be a Cut-and-dried Affair,

CHICAGO, May 17.—]By the Associated Press.] Chairman J. S. Clarkson, of the Republican National Committee arrived this morning from Hot Springs Ark., fully restored to health. To a reporter he said: "The 7,000,000 Republicans who will be represented at Minneapolis have not made up their minds regarding the candidate. The results of the State conventions clearly show this. There will be more uninstructed delegates in the Minneapolis convention than was ever known in the convention than was ever known in the history of the Republican party.

"The Northern States and the States which cast electoral votes which will elect almost, have sent uninstructed delegates. The instructed delegates come from Southern States. Some able editors and Federal office-holders claim that the nomination is settled already. I certainly do not think so, but as for being a party to any conspiracy for the nomination of Blaine, Sherman or Harrison I desire to enter a protest. I will rison I desire to enter a protest. I will rison I desire to enter a protest. I will keep out of the contest and cast my vote for whomever I shall determine will be the winner. Without much doubt there will be several ballots cast. Men must be very popular who would secure the nomination on first ballot, when such a large proportion of the delegates are uninstructed."

TO THE VISITING EDITORS:

As a former member of your craft we welcome you to the City of the Angeles from the blizzards and cyclones of the East to a land of sunshine and happiness in the West. You are welcome to visit and inspect the largest dry goods house in the city. Two large floors, 36 by 208 feet. connected by the largest and handsomest passenger elevator in the city. We know the power of printer's ink, and as the largest advertiser in the city we bid you welcome, twice, yea, thrice welcome. As business men we have contributed liberally for your entertainment and enjoyment while in this city. It is due you, representing as you do 600 newspapers. reaching at a low estimate fully 3.000,000 readers, that the widest and most liberal treatment and sight-seeing should be accorded each and every one of you. This city is like a Phoenix, rising from the ashes of a bursted boom without a single failure of note to record -a boom without a parallel on the face of the earth. It is a marvel of the world, growing today faster and more substantially than ever before. It is a business calamity that an effort has been made to close the doors of the business of this city from your view. It would surprise and fascinate you. It is a slap in the face to a large body of reputable and honorable business men to have it said of them. All the reputable business houses have agreed to close. Is it religion? This house closes its doors every night in the week at 6 o'clock; every employee is given a week's vacation on full pay; a library for their free use and benefit is furnished. We believe in doing good to our fellow men every day in the year and to contribute liberally to all worthy enterprises. We believe in being liberal to the employees, liberal to the public and truthful in all statements; we believe in closing our doors on all legal holidays; on business days and during business hours we believe in doing business in a business way. We keep open every hour today. Brother Printers, come in and see us. We want to shake you all by the hand. The trade of this house is growing at an enormous rate. And why not?

THE SUPERVISORS.

An Amusing Petition Filed With the the Board.

Was Thrown from His Buggy on County Road and Wants Damages-Regular Business

An amusing petition was filed with the Board of Supervisors yesterday by M. W. Sinnott, an old resident of this county, in which he seeks to recover damages from the county for injuries received some four or five weeks ago by being thrown from his buggy. It is as sentenced to the penitentiary for ten years for the same offense, but was granted a new trial by the Supreme Court.

A PECULIAR CASE.

J. F. Cooper was taken before Justice Stanton in the Township Court, yesterday, by Constable Rogers, who arrested him at Ventura on Monday last, for arraignment upon the charge of having obtained money by means of false pretenses.

The complainant, Horace G. Miller, of the Southern California Loan and Investment Company, of this city, alleges in his complaint that ou February 25 in his complaint that ou February 25 ders into the roadside ditch and stunned to unconsciousness for many hours, and so badly bruised and hurt that he is afraid of being crippled all the rest of his life.

Your petitioner knows the fact that some, if not all, of the members of this board are lawyers by education, if not by profession, and that there is little need of arguing the legal proposition that the county is responsible in damages for such negligence in regard to the sate condition of a county public highway.

to the safe condition of a county public highway.

We taxpayers contribute annually to the supply of the county road fund to defray the expenses of proper construction and needful repair of our public roads to insure at least the safety of common travel. There is, then no acceptable excuse for the omcial negligence which endangers our lives or limbs as we travel to and fro at our convenience along our public roads.

three of limbs as we track to an output of the convenience along our public roads.

The suggestion is plain, that whatever is recoverable by suit may be awarded by this administrative board without litigative.

this administrative board without litigation.

Your petitioner therefore respectfully requests and expects such damages as would be given by a jury upon the facts of the case.

The legal width of a public road is forty feet at the least, and there is ample space for smooth, rounded grading from the center to the outer edge on both sides.

There was no need of the slovenly work, of cutting two deep parallel ditches about fourteen feet apart and scraping up the ground from the ditches into a back-bone ridge from four to six feet wide in the center of the road, giving scarcely width enough for safe passage of one wagon, at a time, and in this instance; and the county as "a body corporate" is responsible for damages resulting from such slovenly work done at her instance by her employés, whether contractors or scrapermen, overseers or commissioners.
Respectfully,

M. W. Sinnor,
Petitioner.

The ludicrous part of the affair is that

Respectfully,

Petitioner.

The ludicrous part of the affair is that Sinnott, shortly after the accident happened, met a member of the board and told him that on the night of April 14 last he and a neighbor, while driving home together, concluded to test the speed of their respective teams, each betting $15 on the result. As they were driving at a high rate, Sinnott being in the lead, a horse, which had been tethered close to the road, rushed across the approaching team, which became entangled in the rope, fell down, upset the vehicle and threw him out.

Supervisor Davis, when interviewed on the subject by a Times reporter yes-terday afternoon, stated that all the roads in the Cahuenga road district were in excellent condition, as Overseer Frye had exhausted all his overtiseer Frye had exhausted at his funds in keeping them so. That that mentioned in the petition was in ex-ceptionally good condition, he knew from personal experience, as he drove over it himself only a short time ago.

J. V. S. is the only Sarsaparilla that old or feeble people should take, as the mineral potasts which is in every other Sarsaparilla that we know of, is under certain conditions known to be of, is under certain conditions known to be emaciating. J V S, on the contrary is purely vegetable and stimulates digestion and creates new blood, the very thing for old, delicate or broken down people. It butties them up and prolongs their lives A case in point:

Mrs Belden an estimable and elderly lady of 510 Mason St., S. F. was for months declining so spells. She writes "while in that dangerous condition I saw some of the testimonials concerning J. V. B. and sent for a bottle. That marked the turning point. I regained my lost fieth and strength and have not felt so well in years." That was two years ago and Mrs Belden is well and hearty to-day, and still taking J.V. S.

The above are two file similes of many REWARDS OF MERIT or DIPLOMAS of PROFESSIONAL SKILL which have frame time to time been awarded to the CELEBRA1ED CHINESE PHYSICIAN, DR. WONG, for his superior medical skillties and curative powers.
It has long been culstomary among the Chinese people when one becomes sick and when repeated attempts to cure him have failed, and he is perhaps given up to die, if, after having bean regular fee for professional services rendered, makes the physician a present as a token of gratitude for his restoration to health and the prolongation of his life. This present consists usually of broad plank, presenting much the appearance of a sign-board, filled with characters entirely meaningless to the average knglish scholar, but full of meaning to the successful physician and his friends.

It is a motto which nightly compliments the physician for his great skill in effecting a cure of the case which once afflicted the donor.

It is not an uncomment thing to see a great number of these COMPLIMENTARY DIPLOMAS advanting the office waits of Chinese physicians in their native country, and indeed a number of the most successful ones in this country are the happy possessors of a few of these high tokens of very superior medical skillity.

PASADENA.

A Welcome Extended to Visiting Editors.

They Will Doubtless Find Plenty to Interest Them.

The Programme as Arranged by the Committee.

Some Remarks on the Matter of Cl Personal Notes of Interest— Batch of Local Brev-Itles.

The members of the National Editorial Association and all who accompany them are hereby welcomed to Pasadena. They will find a town that speaks for itself, the charms and beauties of which must be seen to be appreciated. They will find the people generous and hospitable and the climate considerably above par, except in case that unexpected hot wave of yesterday doesn't blow over. The only drawback is that their stay here is limited to a few hours. But the best will be made of it, and the visitors will doubtless see enough to form some idea of what an exceptionally fine town Pasadenians live in.

THE PROGRAMME. THE PROGRAMME

The following card, issued by the committee in charge, explains itself:

"The trains bearing the visiting members of the National Editorial Association to the number of about 450 will arrive at the Santa Fé depot from Los Angeles on Wednesday, May 18, at 1:30 p.m. sharp. Citteens who can furnish teams for driving the visitors about town are requested to form prior to the above hour on Raymond avenue, south of the Hotel Green, facing north. No teams will be allowed in the space between the hotel and the railroad track.

As fast as the carriages are loaded those in charge are requested to proceed on the drive about the city, selecting their own route, but being particular to deliver their guests on the Raymond bill not later than 3:30, so that they may take their trains at the Raymond station before four o'clock.'

The above in brief tells the programme mapped out for the entertainment of the distinguished visitors who will be with us today. Those who have volunteered to send carriages will please govern themselves accordingly. Any persons who can furnish a suitable conveyance and who ha're not yet motified the committee will station themselves on Raymond avenue without further notice. Every available carriage will be needed.

Fioral contributions should be sent soon these contributions be liberal.

Pains will be taken to see that the visitors leave Los Angeles at 1 o'clock sharp, so as to be here promptly on time.

OUR "GLORIOUS" CLIMATE.

"What has Passdena back of it to make it grow?" was the question which one citizen was heard to ask another yesterday.

The question is a pertinent one. It has was heard to ask another yesterday.

The question is a pertinent one. It has been asked many times, and it is more difficult to give a satisfactory answer than might be supposed. The essential elements which enter largely in the growth and prosperity of most enterprising communities, such as manufacturing or mining industries, unlimited agricultural resources, or a specially advantageous location as a railroad or shipping center or terminus, are here lacking to a great extent, and some people, who are given to thinking, review the past and wonder how Pasadena has ever reached her present status in hardly more than a short decade.

Pasadena occupies a unique position as a city and not many of the rules that govern hardly more than a short decade.

Pasadena occupies a unique position as a city and not many of the rules that govern the growth of other places apply here. The climate is largely responsible for this, and when the Northerners and the Easterners and the denizens of other less favored sections cry out, "Yes, but you can't live on climate," they are farther from the truth than they imagine. It is just this matter of climate backed up by the natural surroundings that has attracted to Pasadena the men of brains and capital, whose splendid homes, intellectual attainments and widespread influence have made the town the representative residence comments and widespread influence have made the town the representative residence community it is. When the the town was in the experimental stage of its history, when there were few buildings, hardly any orchards and nothing fancy in the way of ornamentation, floral or otherwise, the future was not rosy, and the people who came here to live were attracted mostly by the climate, for there was little else to attract.

came here to live were attracted mostly by the climate, for there was little else to attract.

The climate, therefore, is largely responsible for the homes of the first settiers, and the Raymond Hotel, for that matter, for as Waiter-Raymond stated to the writer on his recent visit here: "There was little at the time the house was built to pin one's faith to, except the climate." A good start having been made, the rest came easy and natural, as it were. Houses multiplied, orchards grew, new land was placed under cultivation, improvements made in this and that direction, and behold inside of a few years the former barren waste was transformed into a full-fiedged and beautiful municipality.

The experimental stage has passed. No reasonable man doubts that Pasadena will continue to grow in the future as it has grown in the past, and in these days when orchards and vineyards flourish everywhere, when agricultural pursuits give profitable employment to a considerable portion of the people, and when manufacturing interests grow and prosper, let it be remembered that the climate is really at the root of the matter and let Pavadenians never be backward in dwelling on the fact that it is "glorious." This fact is further remembered that the climate is really at the root of the matter and let Pasadenians never be backward in dwelling on the fact that it is "glorious." This fact is further emphasized by the surprising number of costly residences that have been built here during the past two years by men of large means who have chosen this spot of all others to live in, and who have come here, not to make money, but to spend it and enjoy life by being comfortable the whole year round.

While jotting down the above an elderly gentleman was noticed on the street below, and the writer recalled how three winters ago this man man had arrived in Pasadena in the midst of a pouring rain. He was accompanied by an invalid daughter and her son, then a pake, sichly boy. Their first, accommodations were wretched, and the old gentleman experienced great dimently in procuring a diminutive stove to make his daughter halfway comfortable. These people entered Pasadena amid the most trying circumstances but they stuck it out, and today the old gentleman is rewarded not only by finding himself renewed in health and vigor, but his daughter is a healthy woman and his grandson is the very picture of life and vigor. This is but a single example of what the climate has done for the invalids that come this way. No wonder the people love this country and never grow weary of sounding its praises.

In the midst of the artesian belt, the city is supplied with the purest of water, and its streets are brilliantly illuminated by gas and electricity. Its people are happy, contented and prosperous.

John Nagle, the man who was arrested in John Nagle, the man who was arrested in San Bernardino a few days ago and brought to this city, charged with petty larceny, was taken before Judge Marks at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. There was not sufficient evidence to convict him and he was therefor dismissed. Nagle and the plaintiff both grasped hands when the court rendered its decision, induiging in a spirited love feast. The plaintiff then instructed the defendant to shake the Judge's right hand, after which the District Attorney, City Marshal, witnesses and spectators came in turn.

City Marshal, witnesses and spectators came in turn.

Jo Lesser, the someweat smooth individual who suddenly left the city a few days ago, leaving numerous creditors to mourn his loss, has been apprehended in Oakland. Sheriff Lacy has gone for the prisoner and is expected to return today. Lesser is charged with obtaining propery under false pretenses and it is thought the offense is of sufficient magnitude to make a charge of felony against him.

W. M. Scott has forwarded to Washington his omeial bond as postmaster at Orange, he having been appointed to that position by the President, and later, confirmed by the Senate. Mr. Scott was really appointed the latter part of 1889, when some twenty-five prominent citizens of Orange asked, by petition, for a change and it was granted. The incumbent reports that the omee is about to become fourth class.

ANAHEIM.
A strange state of affairs exists this year. particular time Democratic editors should satisfy themselves as to the existence of (McKinley) tin, and that in abundance, in Southern California.

The fertile peat land section of the county, lying west of Santa Ana, the county seat, where pumpkins weighing from 200 to 300 pounds and over, beets from 60 to 90 pounds, and where 125 bushels of corn per acre, without irrigation, is not an exceptional yield, is one of the pleasing features of the county, and which never fails to delight and astonish Eastern market. Formerly navels were than budded navels. Formerly navels were considered to the price of seedlings are worth more to them than budded navels. Formerly navels were than budded navels. Formerly navels were changed. San Francisco, the buyers say, is the only city that continues to stick to the navels as a favorite. But just think of 50 cents as the top price for fine oranges going 175 to 225 to the box. And our orchardists are being called upon to pay 50 cents per tree for fumigating, too. Well, so the county is nine miles from the ocean, thirty-three miles from San Diego, and is the fourth city in size in Southern Galifornia. In the midst of the artesian belt, the city is supplied with the purest of water, and its streets are brill iliantly illuminated by gas and electricity. Its people are happy, contented and prosperous.

John Nagle the man who was arrested in a content of the county is nine miles from the organization of the county is nine miles from San Diego, and is the fourth city in size in former or the county is nine miles from the only city that continues to stick to the navels as a favorite. But just think of 50 cents per tree for fumigating, too. Well, and the county is nine miles from San Diego, and is the fourth city in size in the only city that continues to stick to the navels as a favorite. But just it as a content of the county is nine miles from San Diego, and is the fourth city in size in the only city that continues to stick to the navels as a favorite. who have not used the same judgment and foresight, have lost money at the business. As a matter of fact the immense profits inade by some fortunate growers have been almost 'too good to be true,' and have been the cause of an unwarranted and unhealthy boom in orange-planting.

Our people are now turning their attention to planting walnuts; many are setting out largely of the various deciduous fruits, and still others are duce more turning their attention to planting the wine grape, being satisfied that the dread disease which devastated our once extensive and beautiful vineyards has fully run its course. Our beet-sugar factory will be a grand thing and a money-making thing for our farmers; the running of our fruit-dryer this summer will introduce a market for most of our deciduous fruits; but nothing can take the place of Annheim's old vineyards, except new vineyards. And the sooner they are replaced the better.

The Native Daughters will give an entertainment at the operahouse Friday evening in which some of the best talent in the county will assist. Tennyson's "Visions of Fair Women" will be given, with Anaheim's most lovely repmanin, the cast, and this will be followed by the two-act comedy "A Box of Monkeys." Gardiner's ice cream will be served during the evening and a social dance will conclude the entertainment.

A torrid wave swept over the county yesterday, giving us by far the hottest day of the year. Spirit thermometers hung up on the shady side of the street went as high as 100°, while others standing in our coolest stores registered from 84° to 90°. A few more such days and the grain fields will all be ready for the mower and header.

Thacker Box, have a force of about twenty-five men at work at their packing-house, besides a large force of pickers in the orchards. There is not a single idle man to be found in town. While the Chamber of Commerce was chaotic in its aspect during the earlier part of yesterday, it was a bower of fioral beauty when the work of the ladies who had the matter in hand was finally completed and the hall was ready for the reception of the National Editorial Association.

of New Main and Railroad streets, with whom she is visiting. She was on a Downey avenue car. When it reached the viaduct the gripman stopped the car and Mrs. Bissell arose to get off, but she suddenly fell over insensible. The she suddenly fell over insensible. The conductor did not know who she was or if she was badly hurt, and thought it best to replace her on the car. She was carried over the viaduct to Abel's drug store, on San Fernando street, where it was discovered that she was in a faint. Some brandy was forced down her throat, and this revived her, although it made her sick at the stomach. She was unburt, and it was probably the heat which had caused her to lose consciousness. She was taken to consciousness. She was taken to home of her friend in the patrol in, which had been summoned.

As it was not to be that the excursionists shall go to Santa Barbara, Santa Barbara has come to them with its choicest jewels of the horticutural world, displayed in such profusion that the eye becomes bewildered at the splendor of the gift.

The display, too, has been so artistically arranged that it drew exclamations of pleasure from all who saw it.

"I am very much pleased with Chamber-lain's Cough Remedy." says H. M. Banga, the druggist at Chatsworth, II. "During the epidemic of la grippe here it took the lead and was very much better liked than any other cough medicines." The grip require precisely the same treatment as a very severe cold, for which this remedy is so efficient. It will promptly loosen a cold and relieve the lungs, soon affecting a permanent cure, while most other medicines in common use for colds only give temporary relief. We have Ladies' Straw Flats from 15c up, and shapes from 85c apiece up as high as you want to go. We have Children's Sailors' trimmed at 15c and as high as $8.0Q apiece. We cater to all classes of trade and our finest goods are marked in the same proportion as our cheaper ones. Our Millinery Department has done a phenomenal business this spring and only carries out the theory that we have in mind that, whether it be the People's Store or any other, that carry the goods the people want, are correct in style and right in price, that will soon be found out. We feel proud of our efforts in this direction. Our Millinery has been simply lovely, and every hat that left this department this summer was turned out WEAVER & HARRIS. We make a specialty of Hair Goods to order. Novelties, Wigs, Switches and Front Pieces of fine quality and tasteful style. Real Shell Bair Ornaments. Hairdressing in charge of M. as lovely as it it were a Parisian pattern.

It is needless for us to go through every department in our house and tell you what we can do for you. We have been in town for eleven years or more, and during all that period have kept on top by reason of selling goods as close as consistent with existence.

We have a Household Department—it is not as well acquainted with the ladles of Southern California as we would wish to make it. We have a very large dies of Southern California as we would wish to make it. We have a very large stock of Crockery, Tinware, Ritchen Utensils, everything that goes toward supplying the wants of a table and the culinary department. We buy our goods in very large quantities. We bought ten crates of Meekin's Decorated Parisian Graniteware in order to get them 25c a pound cheaper than the price sold to others. These goods are as staple as sugar is in the grocery business, and the profit in them is the loss in breakage. For instance: If you get in a crate without its contents being broken you are ahead and come out even; if it turns out broken in any respect you are that much in the hole. Now, we are offering 100-piece Dinner Sets of this celebrated ware at $9.95. Had we bought them in the ordinary way they would cost us more money to Sets of this celebrated ware at $9.95. Had we bought them in the ordinary way they would cost us more money to lay down in Los Angeles than this price. We have just received from New York ten crates of Imported China of different kinds that we propose to make a leader of to popularize this department. If you will come in and look avound we know that you will purchase, because our prices are so much less than you have been accustomed to paying.

We have a Shoe Department, where we sell shoes for men, women and children. We only have one claim for it, and that is superiority of the shoes and their low prices considering their value. A successful shoe house is one that begets the confidence of the public. We can show you two shoes—one at $2.50 and the other at $5.00; to look at them you cannot discern the difference; it only becomes apparent when the shoe is worn. We guarantee every pair of shoes that we sell, and if they do not give satisfaction we refund the money. If you want a medium-priced ladies' shoe we have it at $2.50. It has style, it is well made, and will give wear and satisfaction. Our shoes are all made of leather. Our makers do not use pasteboard for inner soles nor do they use sheepskin for kid. Ir you want a better shoe we have a line at $5.00, which, for the money, cannot be equaled by any $6.00 shoe sold in this town. In Men's Shoes yot. can buy either Lilly, Bracket & Co.'s or Hanan & Son's make in price from $2.50 to $7.00 a pair, and when you buy you know you are wearing a shoe. You do not buy any crossroad shoe made for every job lot shoe store in the community, neither do you buy a shoe without the name of the maker, but you wear goods that have received the indorsement of the best people in the United States.

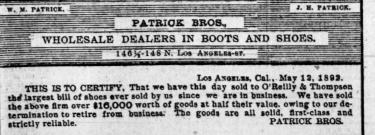

In our Mon's Straw Hat Department we think we have the largest and most varied line we have ever kept. They come from $5c to $2.50 apiece, and as we claim ours to be better and cheaper than others, it is only by comparison that you can tell whether our statement is true or not.
